Libraries for Lifelong Learning

ENTITLE Final Conference

16 October 2009

National Széchényi Library
(Buda Castle Palace, "F" Building)
Budapest, Hungary

Europe's New libraries Together In Transversal Learning Environments

Guidelines

- ▶ A series of concise guidelines highlighting effective provisions for public libraries in lifelong learning and drawing attention to good practices all over Europe has been created.
- ▶ ENTITLE Guidelines are based on findings from CALIMERA, PULMAN, PULLS projects and the Country Surveys developed in 12 countries during the first months of ENTITLE project: <http://www.entitlelll.eu/eng/Country-Surveys>.
- ▶ The six guidelines are:
  - 1 Strategies and Policies;
  - 2 Landscape;
  - 3 Planning and managing learning services (Looks at the way in which learning services emerge, how libraries plan new learning services and how they are managed);
  - 4 Resourcing;
  - 5 Evaluation (focus on the various ways in which libraries evaluate their learning services and how they measure the outcomes and impact);
  - 6 Learning Environment.
- ▶ The guidelines are useful tools primarily for the library staff and policy makers, but provides recommendations also to schools, learners and other non-formal/informal learning organisations.

Impact Assessment Framework

ENTITLE produced an expert-validated impact assessment framework designed for use at institutional, regional/national level in supporting quantitative and qualitative evaluation of the impact of libraries' learning activities and services on learning participation, outcomes etc for children/schools, adult learners in general and learners involved in vocational education .

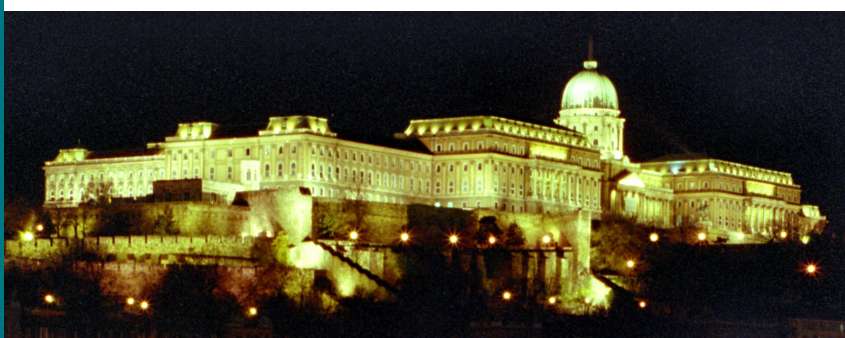

"To use the framework in the best possible way, a daily routine in which it is a part of both planning, carrying out, and evaluating library services, is necessary". – Aarhus Public Libraries

"GLO's model is just a skeleton for the measurement; the libraries must add the muscles. And the muscles are the stories." – Ljubljana City Library

Library

The main objectives of ENTITLE project

- To identify, describe and disseminate the many instances of good practice and approaches used for learning in public library settings, backed up by recommendations for supporting and extending the contribution of libraries to lifelong learning policies and actions.
- To provide an evidence-based framework for further and wider comparison and exploitation of these results, with potential for future use in the context of comparative research studies.

Why ENTITLE conference?

- The conference is co-organised by EBLIDA, the European Bureau of Library, Information and Documentation Associations and other organisations from 11 countries.
- The ENTITLE project results are:
  - ▶ based on an extensive research concluded in 12 European countries
  - ▶ tested in several libraries in old and new member states (e.g. Denmark, Romania, Slovenia)
  - ▶ validated by experts from EBLIDA, EUN, MLA, etc organisations

One of the major pillars of Europe's i2010 initiative calls for "inclusion, better services for citizens and quality of life" and emphasises the enhanced use of ICT (Information and Communications Technology) for life-long learning and social inclusion. ENTITLE encourages a focusing of research and deployment efforts in the field of 'digital libraries', specifically to use high-tech tools in order to combine individual creativity with ICT.

ENTITLE final conference will provide an excellent discussion forum, where librarians and educators from all over Europe can share their experiences, good practices and exchange their view on the role libraries should play in non-formal/informal learning.
